Reminders:

- Parents/caregivers read aloud to the children, not the other way around.
- Books should be 80+ pages long and have narrative qualities (read like a story).
- Some kinds of books, though awesome, cannot be counted for FRAC, including comics/graphic novels, activity books, and joke books.
- Nonfiction, including chapter-book biographies, can be counted if the book has 80+ pages and narrative qualities.
- See FRAC flyer or library.cityoflewisville.com/children/family-read-aloud-club for full details.

Parent/Caregiver Instructions:

- Use this reading log to record the chapter books you have read to your school-aged children.

- Don't stop now! Keep reading aloud and writing down the books you read.
- Each time you finish reading four books, bring your reading log to the Youth Services Desk and choose another free book. Your family can earn up to four free books per calendar year.
